Getting the Northern Ireland economy moving

Boosting Business

We’ve widened our reach to businesses right across Northern Ireland through our Boosting Business campaign. During 2012–13 the campaign generated over 11,750 enquiries, and over 6,300 attendees at 236 events, seminars and workshops. These covered a wide range of topics including design, exporting, recruitment and selection, energy efficiency and online selling.

“We’ve doubled our turnover in just four years.”

Nuprint Technologies manufactures printed packaging, creating high-quality food and drink labelling for Northern Ireland’s agri-food sector. The Londonderry-based business was formed in 1984 and successfully created labels for the clothing market for 22 years. When textiles moved en masse to China, Nuprint reinvented itself - retraining staff in package labelling. It has worked with Invest Northern Ireland to retrain its workforce.

Managing Director, Gavin Killeen explains: “To satisfy a completely different sector everyone had to retrain. The team of people that I had were excellent. I had faith in them being able to re-skill, but we had to find and bring in the best people to show them how to do it. We talked to Invest NI about training and development, and were then able to recruit a flexigraphic printing expert for six months. Now, we’ve diversified and doubled turnover in just four years.”

Nuprint is one of the many local companies that have accessed the support available under Invest NI’s Boosting Business campaign and have taken positive action to succeed in these difficult times.

“Within Invest NI there is a wealth of knowledge. I think any business would be foolish not to contact them. Your Invest NI client executive will become your first point of contact. They might not have all the answers but they’ll find you the expert leader inside Invest NI that does.”

Why not join the 12,000 who have already looked to Boosting Business for advice under its five key themes: jobs, skills, exports, technology and research and development.

Providing funding support

We’re helping businesses access funding to grow. We developed a suite of venture capital and loan funds totalling £100m to ensure that early stage companies with high growth potential are not held back because they cannot access finance.

During 2012-13 we added two new funds – the Growth Loan Fund and the Small Business Loan Fund. Both these funds have received high levels of interest. We also committed an additional £4 million to our Northern Ireland Spin-out Proof of Concept and Invest Growth funds.

To help small businesses get professional help to prepare funding proposals, we also created the Finance Voucher. The voucher can be used to finance up to 49% of consultancy costs, to a maximum of £4,000.

Having a robust, well constructed and detailed funding proposal is vital when approaching lenders. The Finance Voucher initiative will help small and medium-sized businesses get the right support to develop good funding proposals, giving them the best chance to be successful in their application.

Helping people start a business

We’re helping our local entrepreneurs get their new businesses up and running through the Regional Start Initiative. This helps people to develop robust business plans which will be their roadmap for success.

Through it we aim to raise the overall number and quality of business starts in Northern Ireland by helping individuals to focus their ideas and turn them into structured, financially viable businesses. Over 900 business plans for new businesses were approved in 2012–13.
A positive impact

The end of 2012-13 marked the half-way point in our Corporate Plan period. Although the economic environment continues to be challenging, our work has had a real and positive impact on our local economy.

We will continue to offer extensive support to businesses to help them succeed and drive forward our economy.
